

Contact:

Dionne Thornton, Marketing & Events Manager

Dionne@butterbeanskitchen.com

BUTTER BEANS ANNOUNCES FOOD AND GARDEN SPRING BREAK CAMP

For Immediate Release

New York, NY - March 17, 2015

Coinciding with NYC Public Schools' annual Spring Recess break, Butter Beans will hold a week long version of its popular Food & Garden Summer Camp for children ages 5-11 from April 6-10th at the Pine Street School in lower Manhattan.

Butter Beans campers will spend this exciting week adventuring through the food landscape of New York City. From exploring farmers markets, to cooking seasonal lunches from scratch each day, Spring Break campers will gain expert culinary skills, learn how to become master composters, garden with urban farmers, and visit some of New York's most celebrated artisan food producers.

Not only do working parents need a fun solution for their children during Spring Break, many studies have shown that enriching camp experiences improve social skills and expand young minds by direct exposure to the vast array of camp activities. This exposure leads to broader ideas and interests that influence current hobbies and play a role in future occupation choices. Butter Beans' Director of Food Education, Kelly McGlinchey feels that "by cultivating an excitement for nourishing foods at a young age in a fun and supportive learning environment, we grow future food leaders at camp with a knowledge of seasonality, sustainability, food literacy, and culinary prowess."

Butter Beans teams up with many exceptional partners to ensure its camp days of food education and wellness initiatives are deliciously fun. Adventure awaits!

For more information, please visit www.butterbeanskitchen.com/spring-camp, email camp@butterbeanskitchen.com, or call 718.499.0010.

###

About Butter Beans, Inc.

Headquartered in New York, Butter Beans, Inc. provides healthy meals and food education for bodies and minds through tasty, nutrient-rich food service for school meals and snacks, Butter Beans Food & Garden Camps, After School cooking classes, and fun, fact filled wellness initiatives and classes aimed at improving the health and welfare of children and families. Butter Beans currently serves healthy meals to 13 schools and organizations in NYC, and provides food and wellness education to over 400 students, adults, and campers. For more information about Butter Beans please visit our website at www.butterbeanskitchen.com or read our blog at www.butterbeanskitchen.com/blog. You can also follow Butter Beans on Facebook, Twitter (@butter_beans), and Instagram (Butter_Beans_Kitchen).